LIVE STOCK, CROP, ETC.

—Africander, a ten to one shot, won
the Surburban Handicap, at Sheephead Bay, yesterday.

—Jeff M. Vimont & Son, of Millersburg, sold to Ross & Bruner 30 head of 1,100-lb. heifers at $4.10 per hundred.

—Nineteen brood mares, the property of S. S. Brown, the multi millionaire, of Pittsburg, Pa., have been received by Mr. Charlton Alexander to graze on his large bluegrass farm.

—Four cattle belonging to Mr. N. P.
Vanneter, of Clark county, were found dead in an old meat house on his farm.
It appears that the stock got into the house in some way and by some means closed the door. Death resulted from starvation.

—If anybody is in a position to make money with poultry, it is the farmer,
and yet the farmer generally says there is no money in hens; this, too, in the face of the fact that he knows of poultrymen who are making the business profitable.

—Tobacco setting has been completed
in this county, the growers saying that the season was the best ever known.
Plants were plentiful and there was an unusual amount left over. The farmers are overjoyed at the prospects of a fine
crop of the "weed."

—There are many farmers and gardeners who still plant Irish potatoes in ridges. It has been demonstrated over and over that level culture is the best,
as potatoes to do well require a great deal of moisture, and ridges dry out much sooner than level land.

—A farmer sold a bunch of hogs one day last week, figuring that twelve hundred bushels of corn he fed them yielded eighty-five cents a bushel, he having kept a careful account of the cost of hogs, the amount of corn consumed and
the sum received. — Wilmington, O., Journal.

—The highest price for the present
sale of J. B. Haggin's thoroughbred yearlings, now going on in New York,
was reached yesterday. J. Keane paid $15,000 for a bay colt by Imp. Star
Ruby-Linda Vista, and P. Lorillard paid $14,000 for a son of Imp. Goldfinch-Lucania.

—Messrs. J. H. Carter and J. M.
Dwelly brought to the Democrat office
a bunch of wheat heads which had been injured by a very peculiar black worm, which has shown itself only in a ten-acre lot sown with northern wheat purchased of a Lexington dealer. The Kentucky seed wheat is not affected. —
Lexington Democrat.

—The great meat packers of the country say that the hogs killed the past year were not up to the standard of fatness demanded by the prosperity of the times, for the weight of lard obtained proportion to the weight of hogs was less than it had been for 30 years. Still with the improved process in the manufacture of cotton seed and other compound lards, the fact was not especially noticed by the consumer.

Doyle, a local politician, and offered

WOMAN'S WORLD.

The young duchess of Marlborough has a father, a mother, a stepfather and a stepmother.

Mrs. Isabel Beecher Albert, a grand-niece of Henry Ward Beecher, has just made her appearance on the lecture platform.

Mme. Adolphe Kok, who has become a barrister at the same time as her husband, is the first woman to be admitted to the Dutch bar.

Miss K. Chamberlain, a niece of the colonial secretary, has been appointed resident physician at the royal free hospital, Gray's Inn road, London.

London is stirred by a report that the duke and duchess of Marlborough will close their town house and move to Blenheim, their country home. The news is causing still more of a sensation in New York, however, for it is hinted that the young American duchess takes this method of balking the social ambition of numerous Americans whom she met in Newport last summer. These might look for favors in the British capital this season and as some of them are said to be impossible the duchess will now be able to avoid them.

Mrs. Ellen Spencer Mussey, dean of the Washington college of law at Washington, D. C., is one of the ablest lawyers in the United States. She is the daughter of Platt R. Spencer, author of the Spencerian system of penmanship, and was associated with her father in law practice. Mrs. Mussey was instrumental in securing from congress the bill giving mothers in the District of Columbia the same right to their children as the fathers; and also giving married women the right to do business and to control their own earnings.

By a vote of 12 to 3 Mrs. Alma A. Williston, a woman doctor, has been appointed municipal physician by the town council of Phillipsburg, Warren county, N. J. Her rivals were the two former physicians, whose salary was $200 a year. Dr. Williston will draw $300. In addition the council will provide her with an automobile and will allow her $100 for medicines. She claims to be an immune and declares that she has no dread of typhoid fever, diphtheria or smallpox. Dr. Williston is probably the first woman doctor to be employed by municipal authorities in New Jersey.

GLEANINGS OF FACT.

In firing the ordinary rifle only 43 per cent. of the powder explodes.

At Exmouth, England, a prize bird Brahma pullet has taken to mouse catching.

The so-called ironback tree is a sort of Australian eucalyptus, and weighs 64 pounds to the cubic foot.

To ordinary eyes a man 1,000 yards away—say, on a rifle range—appears as a dot; he could not be known as a man except as being a smaller dot than a horse.

The recently appointed board on the national trophy rifle contests recommends that the school children throughout the United States be given small arms practice.

A man of 70 has renewed his finger nails no fewer than 186 times. Taking the length of each nail as half an inch, the total length grown on each finger has been seven feet nine inches.

Maryhattyana, an Arkansas post office recently discontinued for lack of business, was named in honor of the three daughters of its first, last and only postmaster, who were called respectively Mary, Hattie and Anna.

In view of the international yacht races this summer agents in New York are already beginning to receive inquiries from rich men who do not live in that city, and from many who do, concerning the ways and means of hiring a yacht on which to entertain their friends during the contests for the America's cup. It is the fashionable thing to do and men and women who think that money judiciously expended will buy their way into the exclusive set are anxious to do it. From present indications the demand for leased yachts will be greater this year than ever before and there will be a smaller supply with which to meet it. Almost every yacht owner in eastern waters will want his boat for himself.

NOTES OF THE NAVY.

More work is put upon naval guns in target practice each quarter than they were required to stand during the Spanish war.

The Russians are experimenting with a "water-clad" battleship which has an upper deck of cork and a second deck of armor. The space between the two can be filled with water; then the ship floats a foot under the sea's surface.

Edward A. Caraway, now a government police officer at the Charleston navy yard, has just begun the fifty-second year of his service as an employee of the navy department. He is now 67 years old. At one time Mr. Caraway served in the famous squadron of Commodore Perry, whose ships remained in eastern waters until March 6, 1854, when the treaty opening the ports of Japan to the world was signed.

A naval officer who is visiting friends in Chicago was enjoying an after-dinner cigar the other evening with his host when the latter remarked on the proverbial neatness of men who "follow the sea." The officer's reply rather startled his friend. "Yes, we're too blank neat," he said. "Tom, I'd give three months' pay for a chance to get as muddy as I used to in my boyhood days. There's never a speck of dust on board a war vessel and the shyness of it all positively makes me hungry occasionally for a stroll down one of the muddy streets for which your city is famous."

LITTLE WASTE PLACES.

Ohio Farmer Tells How They May Be Utilized for the Production of Paying Crops.

On most farms there are small plots of ground in out of the way places which may be dug or spaded up and utilized in various ways, returning a handsome profit for the labor and care bestowed upon them. It is surprising how many of these bits of ground may be found around the average farm, which, instead of lying idle, might be yielding the choicest vegetables and small fruits. Our farm is not large, but the "scraps" of ground yield no small sum.

Along the fences, in corners and on slopes which for any reason the plow cannot reach, I spade up the soil, applying manure from the poultry house plentifully and working it thoroughly through the soil. In these plots I first plant radishes, lettuce, peas or other early vegetables, and when these have been removed I sow turnip seed or sweet corn.

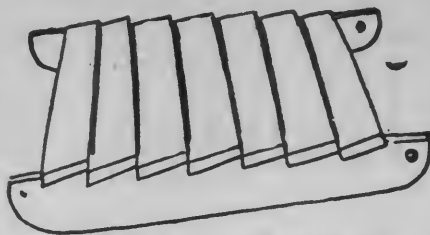

On a strip of land five feet wide and 250 in length, where weeds formerly grew (the leaves and stalks of which have formed a loose, rich soil), I planted several rows of Gregg and Cuthbert raspberries, a bed of strawberries of a self-pollinating variety, in rows two feet apart and the plants 15 inches apart in the rows and a number of gooseberry and currant plants. From this strip, which I gave especial care, I supplied our table throughout the season, and sold several bushels of fruit. I do not refer, of course, to the first year's product, which was small. Rhubarb and asparagus, too, I find are excellent for fence corners and furnish many a toothsome dish. The asparagus bed once established requires little care, only an occasional weeding and thinning being necessary.

It is the little things like these I have mentioned that return the largest profits. The willow leaf lima bean is a profitable variety which may be grown also for ornament. It may be planted around a porch and trained upon cords or wire netting. The pods are borne in large clusters and the beans are of extra large size. I find a constant demand for them at 20 cents a quart, shelled. Any of the fruits and vegetables I have named may be grown on ground usually left to weeds, in sufficient quantity to supply a family. The result from a ten by ten plot will surprise those who have never attempted intensive culture.—Nathaniel G. Saxton, in Rural World.

HANDY TOOL TO HAVE.

Excellent Cud Masher Which Can Also Be Used for Hauling Rocks from the Fields.

An excellent cud masher and smoother can be made by taking two pieces of oak timber 2x8 inches and six feet long; every eight inches cut in two inches on one edge with a saw,

EXCELLENT CUD MASHER.

and slant the notches from one cut to the other, spike on 2x8 oak boards five feet long in the notches, so as to make a solid bottom, and one edge of the bottom pieces will be sunk into the side timbers. Turned down this makes an excellent soil smoother and firmer. Turned bottom up, if the side pieces are slanted up at the end, it makes a handy arrangement for hauling rock or for hauling tools to and from the field.—A. J. Legg, in Epitomist.

ALL AROUND THE FARM.

Keep busy. This is the season big ticks count.

Have a fixed purpose to make the farm pay.

Don't crop the farm to death. Raise some stock.

A merry whistle is a wonderful shortener of long furrows.

Hard-pan in the corn field makes bread scarce in the kitchen.

Dragging the roads makes a wondrous improvement in them.

The farm implement or machine which will earn 25 per cent. on its cost yearly, as very many will, is a far safer investment than bank stock or deposits. We must learn to do business with the farm.

It is thought by some of our best corn raisers that ten acres is sufficient for one man to tend. Others think from 20 to 40 acres makes a fair summer's work; but I have generally noticed that the ten-acre man makes the biggest profit.—Farm and Home.

The Self-Growing Barn.

An esteemed correspondent, writing from Danville, Ky., tells of a novel industry, which will probably soon spread as far as Billville. Tan Crawley, a farmer in the Coral Hill neighborhood, has a barn which is growing rapidly. The structure, which is a capricious affair, was built several years ago. Willow posts were used on the ends and along the sides. Being in moist and virgin soil, the posts took root, and the entire structure has flourished like a green bay tree. It ascended nine feet in the first three years and Mr. Crawley was compelled to lay a second floor, using the first as a loft. The second floor is now too elevated for use, and next year a third floor will be added. The innovation has proved advantageous, and a large crop of barns will be wanted this spring by farmers in the vicinity.—Atlanta Constitution.

REAL BABY TALK.

What the Infant Thought Expressed in Language Miss the
"Goo-Goo."I am a baby, 11 months old, and nearly worn-out already. Please let me alone, said the infant, according to the Smart Set.I am not a prodigy, except to the extent that, not having anything to say,
I don't talk. Two big persons claim to be my parents—why can't they let it go at that? I have never denied the charge. I haven't much data to go by,
but I don't think I am either a magician, a learned pig or a virtuoso. I don't hanker for applause; so it will be an appreciated favor if you won't put me through any parlor tricks.If I have my wealthy old Uncle Ezra's nose, congratulate Uncle Ezra, but don't blame me. I may be a kleptomaniac, for all I know; but I can't help it.Don't rattle rattles at me—they rattle me. Don't goo-goo and ootie-koot-sie at me. I can't understand it any better than I can the English language.
The pain I have is not in my stomach,
but in my neck. I don't want to be entertained or mystified or medicated or applauded. And, if you don't want me to grow up to be a hypochondriac, a stamp collector, an awful example, a ping pong enthusiast, or a misanthrope,
you just lemme be!

FORGOT HIS WEDDING DAY.

Busy New Yorker Overlooks an Important Engagement and Makes a Hurried Trip."We hear a good deal about the busy
men of New York," said one of them,
according to the Sun, "but I have a friend in Wall street who has broken the record.""I was in his apartment a few nights
ago after the theater, and he was chatting with me about the deals of the day, and as he chatted he was running over a bundle of memoranda. All at once he stopped as if he had been shot.""Great Scott!" he exclaimed, "I'm to be married to-morrow to a woman in Chicago, and I had forgotten the date completely. Say, old man, come with me and help me to pack up. Of course, I can't make it now to save
my life, even if I hired a special engine and car, for the wedding is set for tomorrow morning at ten o'clock!""While he began pitching his things into his trunk I wrote out a message to his sweetheart and hurried it to the telegraph office. My friend left on the first train out and after his arrival in Chicago he wired back:
"It's all right. She has the measles."

LEGAL POINTERS.

Requiring a magnetic healer to procure a license before engaging in the healing art is held, in Parks vs. state (Ind.), 59 L. R. A. 190, not to deprive him of his liberty or property without due process of law, or deny him the equal protection of the laws.A contract by the publisher of a newspaper to use it in influencing the choice of delegates and the action of a convention in favor of a certain candidate for public office is held, in Livingston vs. Page (Vt.), 59 L. R. A. 336, to be void as contrary to public policy.A city which voluntarily constructs
a cinder bicycle path along the side of one of its streets is held, in Prather
vs. Spokane (Wash.), 59 L. R. A. 346, to be bound to construct and maintain it so that it will be reasonably safe for the ordinary use for which it is intended.The publication of an unjust and malicious criticism of a manufactured article is held, in Marlin Firearms company vs. Shields (N. Y.), 59 L. R. A. 310, not to be restrainable by injunction,
although the manufacturer has no remedy at law because of inability to prove special damages.One who attempts to take fish from a private lake contrary to law, knowing that it is guarded by a watchman, with a gun which is sometimes discharged,
is held, in Magar vs. Hammond (N. Y.), 59 L. R. A. 315, to have no right to recover for a wound unintentionally inflicted upon him by a shot from the gun, although it is negligently fired.

ers arrived on an Atlantic liner at New York last week. Two sailed from Liverpool with the ship and the others came on board at Queenstown. The purser recognized them and posted a notice warning passengers to beware
of professional gamblers. Consequently the sharpers were unable to do business, though in manner, dress
and accent they were capital imitations of Britishers. They did a great deal of betting among themselves, but their fellow passengers held strictly aloof.

THE INDUSTRIAL WORLD.

In Germany the annual consumption of iron per capita is 168 pounds and the production just double that amount.Lake Superior iron ore is taken from order.

FACTS ABOUT OUR STATES.

Massachusetts has 1,699 prisoners per million population.There is more coal in Montana and Wyoming than in Pennsylvania.Greece has as many people as Michigan and as many acres as West Virginia.Pennsylvania has 200 daily papers, a larger number than any other state in the country.Montana has produced in copper $390,000; in silver, $357,000,000; in gold, $282,000,000.From all southern states there has been a large exodus to the west and southwest in recent years. Virginia

INDUSTRIAL ITEMS.

Two thousand feet of air mixed in the proportion of seven to one with coal gas will produce an explosion
equal to that of 50 pounds of gunpowder.Out-of-work benefits paid to mem-

$175,767.25, while for the year 1902 the amount had decreased to $21,071.In cutting a mahogany tree a platbodies of various shapes has been tested by M. Canovetti by attaching the body under observation to a carriage sliding down a wire 400 yards long,

one of whose ends was 75 yards higher than the other. From the times of descent with and without the load, the resistance was calculated. Among other results it was shown that more power was necessary for driving an aeroplane through the air than for propelling an automobile of equal weight along a road, and that the weight of engine necessary must make this form of airship impracticable.

OF GENERAL INTEREST.

Several laborers on the trans-African railway, near Bulawayo, have been killed by lions.In the Hackl arc lamp, made in Buda-Pesth, the mechanism is at the top,
and the carbons are inclined downward toward each other at an angle of about 90 degrees. A reflector between the mechanism and the carbons intercepts
the rays that pass upward, thus further increasing the efficiency. The lamp is designed for an alternating current of ten amperes at 28 to 30
volts, and it uses but a third as much current per candle-power as the ordinary globe lamp.The exceptional activity in Canadian railway circles, with the admitted scarcity of rolling stock and motive power, has led to a large number of orders being placed by the railway companies for new equipment with both Canadian and American firms, and the facilities of the companies have been taxed to the utmost to fill these orders, while the Canadian Pacific has had to go to Scotland and Saxony in order to obtain the locomotives required by the road.

know that the authoress of that well-known hymn, "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," is still alive. Mrs. Van Alstyne, the lady in question, has just entered upon her eighty-fifth year. In her day she is said to have produced no

JACOB W. PATTERSON

Called To The Head of One of The Greatest Horse Marts in The World.

Jacob W. Patterson, one of the leading horsemen of the Blue Grass Region, and a member of the firm of Harbison, Jewell & Patterson, owners of the Lexington Tattersalls establishment, has been elected general manager of the John A. Miller Feed and Sale Stables at Atlanta, the greatest horse and mule mart in the South and one of the largest in the world.

The selection of Mr. Patterson grew out of the recent death of Captain John A. Miller, founder of the enterprise, who was its President and General Manager. The stockholders held a meeting in Atlanta on Tuesday and reorganized by electing George M. Brown president and treasurer; J. Hall Miller, son of the late Captain Miller, secretary, and Mr. Patterson, general manager. The Constitution of Wednesday publishes a fine portrait of Mr. Patterson and in connection with its report of the reorganization says:

"Mr. Patterson is widely known as an expert in the horse and mule market and his addition to the list of officers of the Miller Company is an important one. He will move to Atlanta with his family and take active charge of the office which he is to fill. The Miller Company is one of the most extensive dealers in the country and their stables in Atlanta are among the largest in the world. The concern was established by the late Captain John A. Miller, and was under his direct management up to the time of his death. The firm will retain his name."

Mr. Patterson will enter upon his duties at once, although he will not remove his family to Atlanta until next fall. He will continue his interest in Tattersalls at Lexington, but will devote practically all of his time to the big Atlanta enterprise. Mr. Patterson has made his headquarters at the Miller stables for years, and the business and personal intimacies thus formed led to his selection as the successor of the late Captain Miller.

The Miller stables have a capacity for 3,000 animals at one time and the company handled 47,000 horses and mules last year. Mr. Patterson's selection for the management of such a gigantic enterprise is a splendid testimonial to his standing in the horse world and as a wide-awake business man. Rev. Dr. E. O. Guernsey has favored the Lexington Leader with a few lines of tribute to Mr. Patterson, as follows:

JAKE PATTERSON.

"It is gratifying to his many friends (who are numbered by his acquaintances) that Mr. Patterson has been chosen to manage that great Southern mart of horsemen at Atlanta, the John A. Miller Stables. It is the largest establishment of its kind in the South, and its administration requires a rare combination of common sense, executive ability and stainless character. It is not too much to say that Jake Patterson stands for all of these."

"The writer has known him from a boy, and new his parents before him. There is a virtue in pedigree of men as well as horses. Jake Patterson has the pedigree of a true, good man, and a horseman as well. There isn't a better woman in Kentucky than his mother, and his father was an honest, true man, an old Kentucky farmer and horseman in the best sense."

"Those who know Jake Patterson do not wonder at his remarkable success. With Asa H. Jewell and Shelby T. Harbison, his worthy partners, he has built up the great Tattersalls establishment at Lexington, the leading mart for high class horses in the State."

"The Atlanta concern have shown their wisdom in selecting him to manage that large establishment. We congratulate them and the city and the South on their choice."

"His removal will be a serious loss to the best interests of Lexington, but an equal gain to those of Atlanta. We all regret his departure, with his charming family, and bespeak for them the royal welcome they deserve from the good people of Atlanta."

QUICK SERVICE.—The Home Telephone Company for quick service knocks the persimmon. "Hello! Number, please?" and you are connected with the one desired.

STREET FAIR.—The first street fair for Georgetown, which is being held under the auspices of the A. O. U. W., is in full blast and will continue through the week. The business houses generally and some of the residences are handsomely decorated in honor of the occasion.

A FATAL MISTAKE.—A Boyle county girl gave her father a teaspoonful of carbolic acid, thinking it was some medicine he had been taking. The drug caused death.

GEN. GORDON'S SON.—At Atlanta, Ga., Gen. John B. Gordon, commander of the United States Confederate Veterans, has sent out a notice requesting the police to locate his son, Capt. Frank Gordon, and return him to his home. Capt. Gordon left home last week with his nerves greatly overwrought, and since then nothing has been heard of him. Gen. Gordon thinks his son is wandering about the country.

NEW DIRECTORY.—The new directory for the Home Telephone Co. is in the hands of the printer. If you want the latest improved telephone service obtainable, see Manager Newton Mitchell and have a Home Telephone put in at once so you can get your name in the new directory.

LATEST POSTAL SCANDAL.—James T. Metcalf, for many years superintendent of the money order system in the Post-office Department at Washington, was summarily dismissed by Postmaster General Payne for awarding contracts for Government printing to a firm employing his son and whose bid exceeded that of a responsible competitor by $45,000.

UP TO THE JURY.—Arguments in the cases of Curtis Jett and Tom White, charged with the murder of James B. Marcum, were begun at Jackson Wednesday morning. The submission of testimony and the charge of the grand jury were completed yesterday afternoon. The wholesale abuse heaped by Fulton French, the first speaker for the defense, upon the witnesses of the prosecution almost caused a fight between French and County Attorney Blanton.

CUPID'S ARROW.

—The wedding of Mr. Charles May and Miss Edna Fithian was solemnized at the Episcopal church in this city, Wednesday evening. It was a very pretty wedding, the color scheme being pink and white and was very prettily carried out in the bridesmaids and bouquets. The bridesmaids were Misses Isabel Armstrong, Milda McMillan, Tom Waller, of Morganfield, and Laura Browning, of Versailles, gowned in white silk mull. Miss Mary Lou Fithian was maid of honor and was gowned in pink mull.

The bride is a grand-daughter of Dr. Wash Fithian, and was a member of the High School faculty the past year. Dr. Fithian, the aged grand-father, never looked handsomer than when walking down the aisle to give the bride away.

The bride was very becomingly attired in white mull, with the usual veil and carrying white sweet peas.

Rev. Henry Knott, of Lexington, performed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. May left on the 9:45 train for a short wedding journey.

FARM WATER SUPPLY.

Ohio Farmer Describes a System That Has Been Used for Years with Great Success.

I send a sketch of my water supply which may be of interest to some. I find it very handy in summer. I hardly ever put my mill out of gear, and I can never out of water, and water always cool in house. A is the windmill; B, the pump. C is the manhole or dry well. D is pipe leading to house tank. E is house tank, holds 30 gallons. F is overflow to house tank leading back to supply tank. G is sink where I also have hot and cold water and well water.

STOCK FARM WATER WORKS.

H is waste pipe to sink. I is tile drain for sink, cellar and dry well, and supply tank overflows. J is pipe leading to supply tank. K is a 35-barrel supply tank about 100 feet from house and 40 feet from windmill. L is outlet for supply tank. M is pipe leading from supply tank to stock tank about 60 feet off; the supply is governed in stock tank by a float, and other tanks sit on a level with main stock tank that are supplied and governed by it.

I used three-quarters pipe for all, but the outlet to house tank and supply tank, which must be 1 1/4 pipes are laid 3 1/2 feet under ground, through cellar wall and up into kitchen.

Now comes what led me to send this sketch—the inquiry asking how to keep tank from freezing. My supply tank is near my feed yard, where I put a stack of corn fodder around it and over it in the fall, and feed it off in late spring. My stock tanks are away from buildings far enough so I can heat them with tank heater and a little coal.—C. Ottgen, in Ohio Farmer.

A Toast to the Horse.

The Baltimore Sun says the following toast to the ever-faithful friend of man, the beautiful and noble horse, copied from the wall of a Maryland stable and published in the Rider and Driver, is of unknown origin, but is worthy of perpetuation: "Here's to that bundle of sentient nerves, with the heart of a woman, the eye of a gazelle, the courage of a gladiator, the docility of a slave, the proud carriage of a king, and the blind obedience of a soldier; the companion of the desert plain, that turns the moist furrows in the spring in order that all the world may have abundant harvest, that furnishes the sport of kings, that with blazing eye and distended nostril fearlessly leads our greatest generals through carnage and renown, whose blood forms one of the ingredients that go to make the ink in which all history is written, and who finally, in black trappings, pulls the humblest of us to the newly sodded threshold of eternity."

Teach the Pigs to Eat.

Be sure and give the pigs plenty of exercise, and as soon as possible the little pigs should be taught to eat. By providing a little pen where in they can get cracked corn and sweet milk, they will soon be able to get away with lots of feed and will transform it into bone and flesh, thereby decreasing the drain on the sow. If the sow does not lose in flesh they should be allowed to suckle for eight weeks; but this must be governed by conditions. One of the great secrets of successful hog raising is to watch both ends of the hog and feed accordingly.—Farmers' Review.

Variety in Horse Rations.

As a man grows tired of the same food day after day, so does a horse. He appreciates a change, if diet, and is in every way better for having it. When horses are on grass, their digestive organs are kept in order, and nothing beyond one feed of oats a day is required, but in the winter, when they are confined so large a part of the time, they should have warm mash once a day, with a quart or so of chopped carrots mixed therein twice a week. In severe weather the water for all stock should have the chill taken off it.—Rural World.

What Corn Wheat Is.

The corn-wheat that has been exploited from the northwest is nothing more nor less than a macaroni wheat with a large berry. From the tests conducted throughout the state by the Nebraska experiment station, it is safe to say that macaroni wheats yield better than other spring varieties, but we have no data of comparison with winter wheat. The Russian varieties are superior in yield, the average being 21.2 bushels per acre.

INDIVIDUALITIES.

Natale Azzopardi, a Maltese, who celebrated his one hundredth birthday recently, still arises at four a. m. and goes to church every morning.

The money has all been collected for a proposed memorial to the late R. W. Blackmore, the author of "Lorna Doone." Exeter cathedral has been selected as the place for the memorial, which is to take the form of a three-light stained glass window and a sculptured tablet. The committee engaged in this work includes Thomas Hardy, Rudyard Kipling, Hall Caine and W. Blackwood.

Rev. Dr. Francis L. Hawks Pott, president of St. John's college at Shanghai, China, is visiting Boston. Dr. Pott is now a Chinese subject. He is a graduate of Columbia and was ordained to the Episcopal ministry in 1886, going almost immediately thereafter to China. Some years ago he married the daughter of a Chinese clergyman, who was one of the first native Chinamen to come to this country to be educated for the priesthood. Rev. Dr. Pott is the author of many works written in Chinese, including a life of Christ and several Chinese treatises.

C. R. Kennedy, a member of the Everyman company, says that while Sir Henry Irving is fully aware of his own mannerisms both on and off the stage, he does not care to have remarks made about them by fellow players. On one occasion, the Irving company, having been called for rehearsal, found that they had mistaken the hour and were considerably ahead of time. One of the actors, a very clever mimic, proceeded to give a lively imitation of Sir Henry's work in the piece they were playing. His effort was laughingly applauded, but just then a well-known voice came from the dark auditorium. "Very good, very good, indeed. So good, in fact, that there is no need for you and I in the same company, Mr. Blank."

CHURCH AND CLERGY.

It is estimated that if all the Sunday schools of the Protestant churches were arranged in marching order, they would make a line 1,000 miles long, 10,000 to the mile.

The Presbyterian church of Cheyenne, Wyo., has bought a Gospel wagon for the use of the pastor-at-large and the Sunday school missionary of the state, in order that they may penetrate into the interior of the country and thus carry on their work of evangelization.

It is precisely 100 years since the first Roman Catholic service was held in Australia—then, indeed, a very new and small colony. Now, according to a writer in the Catholic World, the population of New South Wales is about 26 per cent. Roman Catholic, and the archdiocese of Australia has a Catholic population of about 170,000.

The diocesan convention of the Protestant Episcopal church in session at Garden City, N. Y., refused the title of "honorable" to Judge Augustus Van Wyck. The judge's name headed the lay committee and when a clerk read it one of the delegates suggested that "honorable" should be prefixed, as Mr. Van Wyck had been a justice of the supreme court. Another delegate protested vigorously, saying that no lay titles, either earned or otherwise, should be recognized by the convention. On a vote this view prevailed, 62 to 54.

SCHOOL AND COLLEGE.

Germany has 21 universities; Italy, 21; Austria, 10; Russia, 8, and Great Britain, 11.

During the year 1902, 232 dogs were subjected to experiments at the University college, London.

When the duke of Saxe-Coburg, the English youth who is heir to the principality, entered Bonn university on Saturday the rector said to him: "You spent your early life out of Germany. What is good in English education keep, but a German prince, as you know, must be German to the core and think and feel German."

Congressman Tawney, of Minnesota, has reached the conclusion that the American public school system is seriously defective in that not enough attention is given to elementary branches. This decision has been reached because eight young men selected by him for appointment to West Point or Annapolis have been rejected in succession because of inability to pass in elementary English branches, though all were high school graduates and were selected largely because of high standing as students. Mr. Tawney is convinced that pupils are being rushed through grammar schools without proper training.

Treatment of diseases of the eye by electricity has been tried as long as electricity was first scientifically employed in therapeutics.

Monsoon stations are to be established in India for the purpose of taking observations by means of kites and kite balloons. The first station will be in the Himalayas at Simla, 7,000 feet above the level of the sea.

It is announced by Prof. Arthur W. Goodspeed, of the University of Pennsylvania, that he has been experimenting with rays emanating from the human body. Although photographs were made by the aid of Crookes tubes, it is asserted that the tubes were not the actual means of producing the photograph, but that they acted simply as intensifiers of the rays. Prof. Goodspeed is said to have ascertained that the rays from the human body pass with difficulty through glass and with ease through aluminum.

DUCKS NEED WATCHING.

Must Be Taught Early Where They Belong or Serious Loss Is Sure to Result.

The young ducks must be trained to know where home is by regular feeding and looking after. The unprincipled fowls enjoy eating corn with your neighbor's hogs, but the neighbor does not care about feeding a flock of growing ducks that do not belong to him.

Besides, it is dangerous for the ducks to be fooling around where hogs are. An old mother hog soon develops quite a fondness for duck meat after once getting a taste. The ducks are not active enough to get away from the porkers, and they will soon consume every duck within reach. We have known them to run down grown ducks.

It is much easier to manage ducks than chickens when a rain is coming up. The ducks may be driven and the chicks must be coaxed. The chicks will scatter in all directions when one attempts to drive them, while the ducks seem to have a leader and the gang stays together.

It will soon be time to begin picking the old ducks if you have decided you want feathers instead of eggs. They won't produce both. They won't lay very many eggs anyway when very warm weather comes, so that likely it will pay better to save the feathers. If one has no use for them at home, there is always a ready sale for them, often right in one's own locality. There are so many people who cling to feather beds, even if they are out of date; and there are many who would rather buy feathers than to bother with a flock of ducks or geese. The strong smell that new feathers have will leave them if they are thoroughly aired for a few days before using them for beds or pillows.—Farm Journal.

OATS FOR CHICKENS.

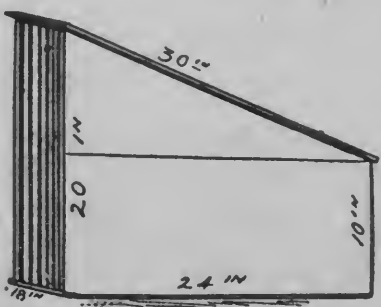

One of the Most Valuable Feeds for Farm Poultry of All Kinds, Ages and Conditions.

I consider oats one of the best feeds we have for poultry of all kinds and ages. I buy oat screenings of the oat meal mills and moisten it with milk for my small chicks and nothing could make them grow faster or develop into better fowls. If farmers would only try this feed in place of the corn meal that they use they would soon learn that it is not only cheaper, but that it is much better for the chicks. When they get a little older I pour boiling water on whole oats and when cold feed this to the chicks. I always feed oats mixed with corn and wheat to my adult fowls and could not do without them. For this purpose the heavy white oats are the best. When feeding whole oats to either fowls or chicks one must keep plenty of grit before them in order to avoid crop troubles. If farmers would get away from the corn they feed their fowls and give more of a variety, including oats and wheat, they would increase their egg yield and have healthier and better chickens. Simply because they do not raise anything but corn is no excuse for feeding it. For they could sell some of the corn they feed and invest in a few bushels of wheat with profit to themselves.—O. P. Bennett, in Farmers' Review.

INEXPENSIVE COOP.

It Can Be Made by Even an Inexperienced Person and at a Trifling Expense.

An inexpensive chicken coop can be made from one 13-foot henlock board, a few feet of shingle lath for frame and two or three wall lath for slats, as I will briefly describe. Cut board into three 24-inch lengths for sides, two 30-inch lengths for roof, and one 18-inch length for back. Cut one of the 24-inch lengths from top of left of bottom of right to form the sloping sides, as shown in the illustration. Use lath to cover joints in roof. The rest is self-explanatory.—Farm Journal.

POULTRY PARAGRAPHS.

Light, nutritious and easily digested food is what fowls in confinement need.

The man who is too mean to provide a comfortable coop for the hen and brood doesn't deserve success.

Feed little chicks on a clean board, which should be often cleansed and dried in the sun or by artificial heat.

If eggs become rotten it is absolute proof that they were fertilized, that the germ of life started and then died.

Brooder chicks never have gapes, which proves that filth gathered from the yards is the cause of the trouble.

The more nearly the roosting house comes to being actually clean, the less will be the liability to disease among the chickens.

Geese are natural grass eaters and will do very well in a good pasture, providing they are well supplied with drinking water.—Commercial Poultry.

Dr. Hugh Smith, of Kalamazoo, well known as an expert in the treatment of tuberculosis, has purchased a tract of land near Albuquerque, N. M., where he will build a sanatorium for the treatment of lung diseases. The sanatorium will consist of a large number of detached adobe cottages, each to be occupied by a single patient and attendants.

Dr. Sargent, of Harvard, says the finest living example of physical culture he knows is a young mulatto, T. E. White, who works in the rope-walk at the Charleston navy yard. These are White's measurements: Height, 5 feet 8 inches; weight, 151 pounds; chest (normal), 36.6 inches; chest (expanded), 39.8 inches; waist, 31.6 inches; hips, 35.5 inches; thigh, 21.6 inches; calf, 15.2 inches; upper arm, 14.6 inches; forearm, 12.8 inches. He's a finer specimen in some ways than the Apollo Belvidere. His strength is amazing. Sculptor Kitson is going to use him as a model.

TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH.

A scheme for the establishment of a permanent wireless service between Sweden and Germany is near realization.

All the principal public squares of Stockholm are now supplied with automatic telephone kiosks. The charge is a fraction over a penny per call.

Mme. Rosa Bonheur was 70 years old when she painted her best picture—"Horses Trampling Out Wheat." She refused £12,000 for it.

A very unique position is held in the city of St. Louis by Mrs. Graham Frost. In one of the first banks there she occupies a position known as that of the "hostess." Her duty is to explain banking methods to the woman patrons, thus relieving them of embarrassment and expediting the course of business. Mrs. Frost finds that nearly all women need instruction as to the clipping of coupons, renting safe deposit boxes, real estate matters, redemption and exchange of money and so forth. Beneficial results have accrued to the bank from Mrs. Frost's employment, the volume of business being greatly increased. It has already 6,000 women depositors.

GLEANINGS OF SCIENCE.

Artificial rubies are now successfully made up to 12 or 15 carats by M. Verneul, a scientist of Paris.

The flying electrons will whirl through sheet iron with no diminution of speed and photograph an object afterward.

Such common substances as sugar, glucose and chalk have been found to absorb sunlight all day and to give it off in rays during the night.

Profs. Moissan and Dewar have lately succeeded with the aid of liquid hydrogen in solidifying fluorine, and they remark that helium is now the only gas that has not been obtained in the solid state.

EXPOSITION ECHOES.

At St. Louis Egypt will be represented for the first time at any world's fair.

The fence around the St. Louis exposition grounds will be six miles long.

S. O. Collins, of New York city, a young colored janitor, is to have an exhibition of landscape paintings at the world's fair, St. Louis.

The most prominent Austrian trade union, the Gewerbe Verein, of Lower Austria, has decided to send a deputation to the United States in 1904 to visit the St. Louis exposition.
